

While some brands gained excellent traction via social media regarding their Super Bowl ads, these are the brands that gained the most attention from the media.

